Russian 'Chuted To Earth At End Of Orbital Flight

By GEORGE SYLVERTSEN MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov said today he was ejected from his space ship at the end of his epic 25-hour orbital flight and parachuted to earth.

The second Soviet spaceman told a jammed news conference his spaceship Vostok II came down separately by parachute "but if the need had arisen, I could have landed it myself."

Titov said there were two landing systems available—either to remain in the space ship and parachute down with it or to descend separately. He said he had permission to use either system.

"I felt well and decided to test the second landing system," he said.

The ship landed safely nearby, he added.

The space flier said he experienced no ill effects—from the acceleration forces, noise and vibration of the takeoff, from the prolonged weightlessness or from the transition from weightlessness near the end of his 17 trips around the globe.

Titov said after landing neither he nor medical experts could detect any changes in his physical organism.

The self-assured young major reported one variation from normal. He said he wasn't hungry for his first two meals although he ate them on schedule. "Frankly speaking I had no particular appetite," the 26-year-old cosmonaut said. "This was probably due to the sustained weightlessness and excitement."

Titov spoke at a news conference held at Moscow University for more than 1,500 Soviet and foreign newsmen, scientists and diplomats.

Mstislav Keldysh, president of the Soviet Academy of sciences, introduced the Soviet Union's new space hero and said his 25-hour flight had produced a wealth of scientific information that will be published and shared with scientists all over the world.

The flight, Keldysh added, opened the way for manned flight "to Mars, the Moon, Venus, and even further into the depths of the universe."

Keldysh said foreign newsmen will be permitted to watch launchings of Soviet space ships in the future but gave no indication when this would happen.

"You realize carrier rockets are not only peaceful instruments, and if the Americans had such advanced carrier rockets you can be sure they wouldn't be showing them either," he said.

The Soviet academican said Titov had demonstrated that a hu-

Beaver Man Faces 2 Charges After East End Damage

An investigation is being conducted by police today into an accident Thursday night in which a Beaver motorist, apparently playing "tag" with another driver, lost control of his car and crashed into two East End homes.

Police indicated two charges will be filed against George Freeman, 32, of Beaver, who lost control of his car during a race and struck the adjoining homes on Mapletree St.

Meanwhile, the porch of an E. 6th St. home was damaged extensively when struck by a tractor-trailer maneuvering out of an alley yesterday afternoon, and a parked station wagon and a convertible were damaged in a collision yesterday morning, police reported.

Police said last night's crash damaged the homes of LaVern Cousin, 1074 Mapletree St., and Lillie Rizer, 1072 Mapletree St. Freeman told Patrolman E. W. Furgason he swerved to avoid a collision with his unidentified racing companion.

Officers said the siding on the west side of the Cousin home, along with the moulting, downspout, flower box and hedge, were damaged while the concrete foundation and porch railing and floor at the Rizer residence were damaged.

Freeman told police he was headed east on Pennsylvania Ave. about 10:25 p.m. at 45 miles an hour when the other car "buzzed" him and turned right onto Virginia Ave.

The Beaver Motorist said he followed the other car and when the driver made a left turn onto Mapletree St. he continued in pursuit.

The two were side-by-side on Mapletree St. when the other driver swerved toward him, Free-

Border Group Alerted For Hijack Duty

President 'Taps' Well-Trained Unit In Plane Incidents

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy tapped a well-trained energetic bunch with pride in its work—the Border Patrol—in efforts to stop plane hijacking.

The patrol itself wasn't giving any details about its new assignment, announced Thursday by the President, to put border patrolmen aboard some planes.

One of its men, Leonard Gilman happened to be a passenger on the plane hijacked at El Paso last week. Gilman ended the incident with a wallop to the jaw of one of the hijackers.

"I'm a trained officer," Gilman explained later in brushing aside any idea of his being a hero.

The Border Patrol has about 1,500 men with the principal duty of guarding the borders of the United States against illegal entry of persons.

Border patrolmen wear uniforms of khaki-green trousers and shirt and a Sam Brown belt with holster and gun.

They use their feet, horses, jeeps, boats and airplanes—some as pilots—to carry out their duties. They're crack shots, too.

The Border Patrol was established in 1924 under the old Bureau of Immigration in the Department of Labor. In the regrouping of government agencies in 1940, the Immigration and Naturalization Service, including the border patrol, was transferred to the Department of Justice.

As far back as 1904 mounted inspectors patrolled the Mexican border in an effort to check the smuggling of Chinese into the United States.

Lt. Gen. J. M. Swing, U.S. Army (Ret.) is the service head. Under him is James F. Greene, a long-time border patrolman, whom the border patrolmen call their national chief.

All positions in the border patrol are subject to civil service rules and regulations.

Lightning, Hard Rain Hit Los Angeles Area

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lightning storms and rain struck the Los Angeles area early today. Lightning set an oil derrick tower afire in Beverly Hills. Bolts hit several other communities.

Torrential rain hit Los Angeles International Airport and Van Nuys in the San Fernando Valley. Sprinkles fell over the entire Los Angeles area.

It was the first measurable rain since last spring.

Numerous power failures were attributed to the lightning. Electrical storms swept desert areas Thursday.

Reds Chart Peace Pact In Germany

Tougher Measures Also Promised To Halt Refugee Tide

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany announced today that negotiations already are under way in Communist capitals for the German peace treaty demanded by Soviet Premier Khrushchev. Sterner measures were also promised to halt the tide of refugees through West Berlin.

The announcements were made to a special session of East Germany's Parliament in East Berlin by Foreign Minister Lothar Bolz and Deputy Premier Willy Stoph.

Parliament approved a resolution endorsing all measures already taken to stop the flight of refugees. The vote was unanimous, as always.

The resolution also welcomed the recent statement of the Communist Warsaw Pact countries calling for a peace treaty without delay. But it added nothing about negotiating it.

Bolz said the foreign ministers of the Soviet bloc will meet late in the fall—exactly when or where he did not say.

Khrushchev has demanded that peace treaties be signed with East and West Germany. Since the West is firmly against signing a treaty with anything but a reunited Germany, it appeared the projected conference would draw up a treaty, the West would reject it and then Khrushchev would go ahead and sign it before the end of the year, as promised.

As part of the campaign against the West on Berlin, Khrushchev

Toronto Girl Is Burned In Bethany Lab

A Toronto co-ed was burned critically Thursday when showered with a flammable liquid while working on an experimental project in a chemistry laboratory of Bethany College.

Nancy Ashcraft, 20, suffered second and third degree burns of her face and over 50 per cent of her body, according to Wheeling Hospital.

She was listed in "critical" condition today.

One of the top students in her Junior Class, she had been selected to work on a special experimental project, sponsored by a federal grant. The experiment lacked only the finishing touches when the mishap occurred about 2 p. m.

Officials said Miss Ashcraft was working alone in one of four labs engaged in the experiment when a container of the liquid apparently upset, soaking her clothing.

Bethany College spokesmen said she was carrying out a routine operation on a project termed "aromatic molecular complexes," when a container of a special compound, benzene, was upset and dropped and fell to the floor at her feet, bursting into flames.

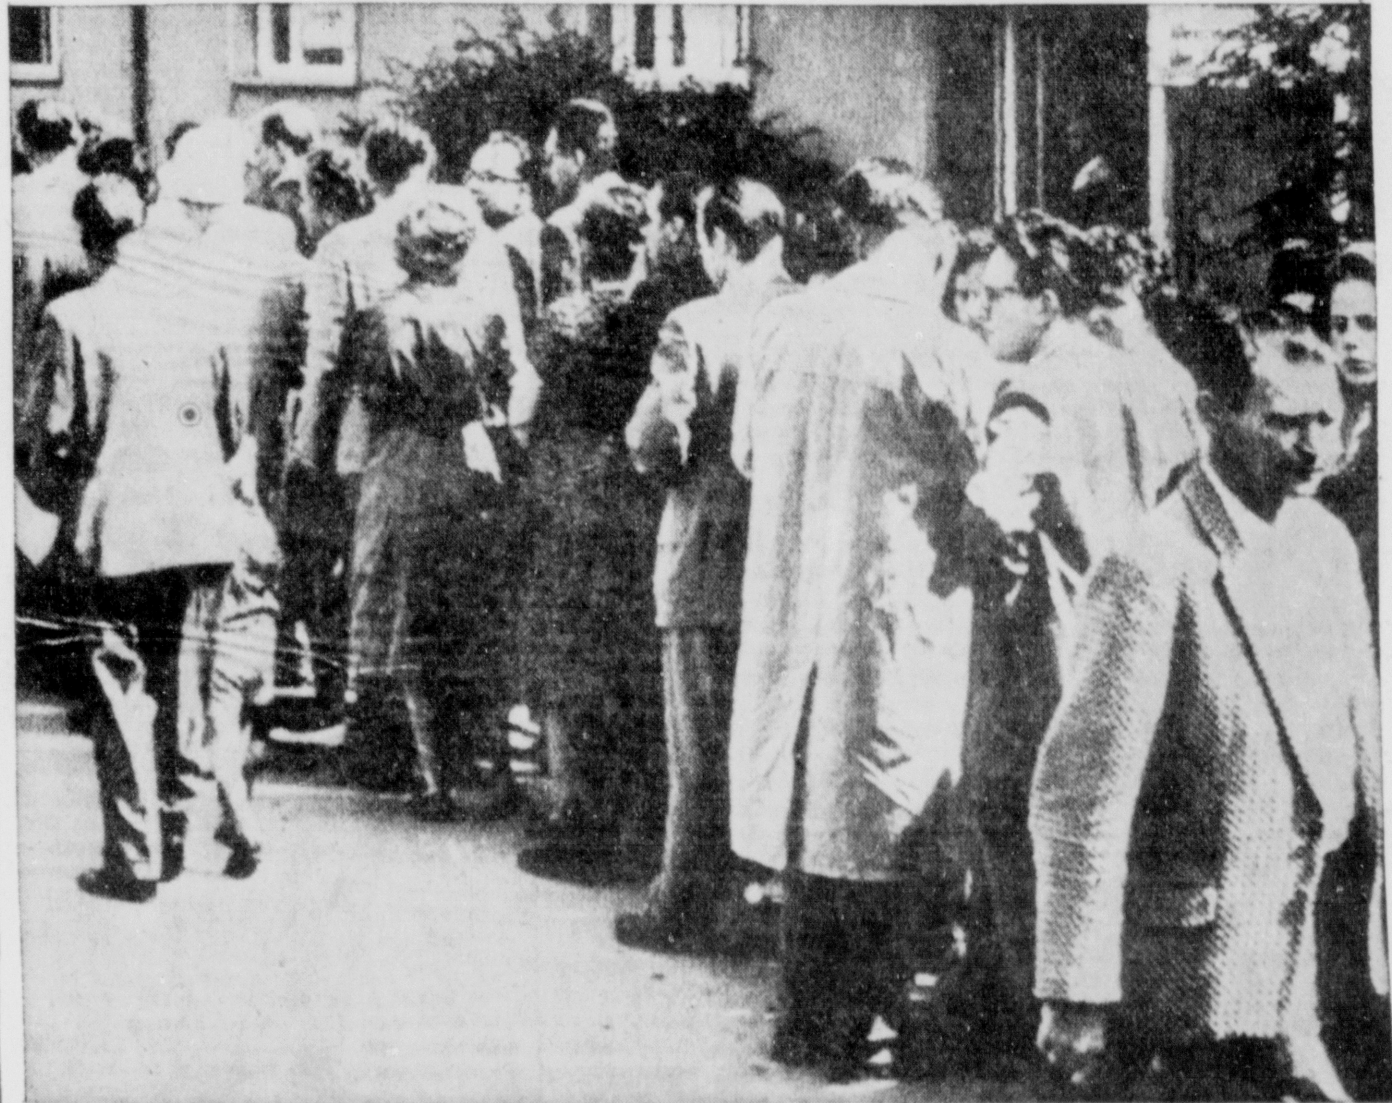

The container had been immersed in water during the heating operation prior to the mishap. The amount of the liquid would fill a small frozen-juice can, the spokesmen said.

Officials said there was no direct contact between the liquid and the flame at the time of the heating, and "the work was not of an unusually hazardous nature."

Miss Ashcraft was seen running from the room, enveloped in flames, by other students and Dr. Dale Ritchie, the professor in charge of the project.

They caught her and extinguished the flames, but not before she had been burned severely.

Miss Ashcraft is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlen J. Ashcraft of Toronto R. D. 1.

Sideswiping Mishap Kills Elderly Man

2 Women Hurt In Auto Crash On Salem Area Road

County's 1961 Traffic Toll 9 Killed This date in 1960—17 Killed! DON'T BE 'I' IN '61

A 76-year-old Alliance area man was killed and two women injured seriously in a sideswiping crash on Tower Rd. about seven miles south of Salem Thursday afternoon at 5:25.

Anton Nordquist of Alliance R. D. 4 died of internal injuries, hemorrhages and a fractured larynx in the crash between cars driven by his son, Harold E. Nordquist, 32, of Alliance and Theda Bauman, 57, of Damascus.

Mrs. Ellen Nordquist, 67, widow of the victim, and Mrs. Jean Duvall, 51, of Alliance, mother-in-law of the son, are in "critical" condition today at Salem Central Clinic.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the Bauman auto was headed west and the Nordquist auto east when they sideswiped off Route 9 north of New Garden.

The Nordquist car plunged on down the road, veered off, hitting two fruit trees and finally a utility pole, officers said.

Harold Nordquist was treated at the clinic for a laceration of the nose and possible fractured ribs, and his wife, Shirley, 27, was treated for a cut of the eyebrow.

Mrs. Ellen Nordquist suffered multiple lacerations and other injuries, and Mrs. Duvall received possible fractures of the jaw and right arm and cuts of the chin. The death was the ninth in Columbiana County this year, compared to 17 at this time in 1960.

'Hundreds Of Millions' Red Boss Warns Of Vast War Toll

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev, in a shouting and arm-waving speech, declared today hundreds of millions of persons would die if a new war is touched off.

He said Western leaders who claim that only seven million will die are talking nonsense.

He made the declaration at a "friendly rally" in the Kremlin for Romanian Communist party boss Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej who has been visiting the Soviet Union since July 31.

Khrushchev, reiterating he is ready to negotiate, today welcomed President Kennedy's expression of hope for a peaceful solution in Germany. "We believe common sense will win," he said.

Khrushchev said talk about low casualty figures is imperialist propaganda to prevent the Soviet Union from taking action on the German question. He reiterated his intention of signing a peace treaty with East Germany.

(Turn to KHRUSHCHEV, Page 5)

"We shall, of course," Khrushchev said, "sign a peace treaty with Germany."

He shouted that "lies and shouts" on the part of the West will not stop the Soviet Union. For example, he said, the roars of the British lion no longer frighten anyone.

The imperialists, he said, have "short hands"—a Russian expression for somebody who has very little power.

Khrushchev said the laws of war are "terribly cruel" and then mentioned the recent visit to the Soviet Union by Premier Amintore Fanfani of Italy. He said he asked Fanfani where the North Atlantic Treaty Organization rocket bases were located in Italy and, according to Khrushchev, got the reply that they were located in orange orchards.

Khrushchev said the Soviet people like Italian oranges but that if war came and Italy is "pushed"

Under Terms Of Agreement

Johnson To Take Over If President's Disabled

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the time ever comes, one Kennedy or another apparently is going to have a hand in deciding if President Kennedy is unable to carry on and should give up his office temporarily.

By terms of an agreement between Kennedy and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson announced Thursday, the President will decide—if he is able to—that he can't carry out his duties and ask Johnson to take over until he recovers.

But if he should be stricken to the point where he couldn't advise Johnson, the vice president has agreed to consult with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and other Cabinet members before he assumes the top job. The attorney general is the president's brother.

In any event, the chief executive would make the decision on when he would resume the active presidency.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said the consultation with Robert Kennedy and Cabinet members was not binding on Johnson, since some disaster might make it impossible for the vice president to hold such talks.

Some politicians thought there was little legally binding about the gentleman's agreement between the chief executive and the No. 2 man in the government. They said the question of whether a vice president could take over as president and then step down again has never been settled.

The Kennedy-Johnson agreement, made before their inaugurations, followed closely a similar agreement between former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon on March 3, 1958.

Salinger said it was not written or signed as an official document but remained an oral agreement.

Nixon furnished Johnson plenty of precedent for consulting with the attorney general in deciding whether the president was incapacitated.

Street Repair Bid Accepted For Midland

Council Also Lets Contract For Work On Borough Curb

Midland Borough Council Thursday evening accepted two low bids, one for resurfacing Virginia Ave. from 4th to 6th Sts. and the other for reconstructing curbs where needed.

The Rochester Coal Trucking & Contracting Co. was awarded the resurfacing contract on its bid of $3,330 and Mike Koser of Midland received the curbing project on a bid of $1,940.

E. F. Mengel & Sons of Rochester asked $3,935 and Interstate Amiesite of Concordville $3,876 for the resurfacing.

Other curbing bids were Interstate, $2,450; Rochester Coal Trucking & Contracting, $2,800 and Paul J. Muschweck of Beaver R. D. 1, $2,125.

In other business, Steve Germusa, president, recommended that Council turn over to the Planning Commission ideas on off-street parking discussed at the last meeting.

Council adopted a motion of Councilman Lester Trainer for the commission to make a study for off-street parking between 6th and 8th Sts.

Germusa said the commission and R. E. Steebner, borough engineer, could check lots in the area, find out their cost, the number of cars that can be parked and the feasibility of the project.

Steebner said final inspection of the new sewage treatment plant will be held Thursday and all contractors and engineers will be present. He invited councilmen to attend.

Nothing came up at the meeting concerning sewage treatment rates, which were expected to be presented last night by Michael Baker Jr., Inc., Rochester consulting engineers.

Concerning air pollution by industries in Midland, Germusa, on behalf of Council, asked Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, borough secretary, to write the Pennsylvania State Air Pollution Board requesting a representative to attend a future Council meeting and explain laws on controlling the condition.

Robert C. McCreary, municipal sales representative of the Duquesne Light Co. attended the meeting to answer councilmen's

Secretary Reports To President

Unity, Solidarity Of Alliance Bared By U.S. Official

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk is expected to report to President Kennedy today that a week-long round of allied conferences in Europe substantially advanced Western diplomatic and military plans for defending West Berlin against the threat of a Soviet squeeze play.

Rusk returned to Washington late Thursday night from Paris. He was scheduled to meet with Kennedy at noon.

On his arrival here, Rusk said "we have had very successful consultations" with representatives of Western countries. He added: "I am very much encouraged by the unity and solidarity of our alliance."

Upon his departure from Paris, Rusk had said of his talks with allied leaders: "I think there is agreement there will be negotiations."

At the same time a French spokesman said the De Gaulle government had turned down a U.S. proposal to take the initiative in proposing negotiations to the Soviet Union.

Thus it appeared that the allied strategy discussions which began in Paris at the end of last week had failed to resolve differences on specific steps which may be taken by the Western side as the Berlin crisis develops. However, authorities here insisted that the basic unity of the allies in resisting Soviet pressures against West Berlin was complete and strong.

Apart from the reported difference over possible approaches to East-West negotiations on Berlin, there also appeared to be some uncertainty as to the extent of participation by the Western European allies in building up military forces under the NATO command in Western Europe.

Kennedy told a news conference Thursday that an increase in conventional (non-nuclear) forces was one of the subjects Rusk had talked about with other allied pol-

Firm Warns Of Wage Cut Or Shutdown

EAST PALESTINE — A last-ditch effort to reach terms of a working agreement at the Kenmar Manufacturing Co. was slated this afternoon after officials said Thursday the firm faces a permanent shutdown unless wages are trimmed.

An official of the United Construction Workers of District 50, United Mine Workers, was due from Pittsburgh today to seek a solution to the deadlock with the local.

The workers last week rejected 84-1 a company proposal to trim wages, and the present contract — on which negotiations were opened 60 days ago — is due to expire Tuesday midnight.

Robert Mauer, who yesterday told a group of Chamber of Commerce members in a visit to the furniture plant the city faces the loss of Kenmar, declared the plant will be open Wednesday for any employee who wants to work under the company proposal.

Mauer said yesterday the company, which closed its plants at Tyler, Tex., and Ottumwa, Iowa, in past years, faces a wage-price squeeze which threatens to dissolve the firm.

He cited competition from southern firms in the Carolinas and Tennessee where wages are lower. He said the recent raising of the federal minimum wage had helped some, and unionization in the South also is bringing the prices up, but he doubted if Kenmar could "hold out until there is equalization."

He cited a $12 difference between southern prices and Kenmar's most popular chair.

The company's proposal includes a cut of paid holidays and various insurance payments for employees of the wood shop, which would mean an average loss of $143 annually to the workers.

Piece-rate workers would, under the plan, get wage cuts of up to 15 per cent, but averaging 6 to 8 per cent, Mauer said.

He declared the firm lost $250,000 last year, and had a payroll of $1 million. He said the firm, during the post-war boom, employed 300 and had a payroll of over $2 million.

About 180 work at the plant at present. The firm, which moved from New Waterford in 1937, has been a major industry in the city. It was unionized in 1947.

Today's session is slated at 3:30 p.m.

Royal China Firm To Expand Plant Use

EAST PALESTINE — While the economic pinch was being felt at the Kenmar furniture firm, a brighter outlook was revealed at the Royal China Co. operation in the W. S. George Pottery Co. where another part of the plant is about to be used in an expansion.

Royal officials said the former decorating shop of the George Plant No. 1 will be used to house a brushing room and warehousemen and packers.

The expansion will provide needed room around the bisque and gloss kilns, it was explained. Directors of the George firm, which leased the plant in May to the Sebring pottery for $3,500 a month, said the lease payments will not be increased.

Today was payday for the Royal workers, drawn from East Palestine, Salem, East Liverpool and elsewhere, and checks, fattened with overtime from seven-day a week operations, ranged from $200 up.

Royal leased the shutdown plant to aid in producing a large premium order. The goal here has been set at 5,000 dozens of dinnerware a day, but will probably not be met until a quadruplet jigger is installed in September or October.

question concerning poor service in the borough.

McCreary said if the street lights are reported out one day, they should be replaced the next day by the company and he said he did not understand why they were not.

A street light at 10th St. and Midland Ave. was reported out since July 21. One resident said he saw the company's service truck in the borough this week replacing a lamp.

Burgess Eli Corak suggested to Police Chief Ed J. Steff that any lights out should be reported to the company at Bridgewater each morning at 7. According to Steff, the lights had been reported to the company.

McCreary said the borough should have few burn outs and that servicemen come when called and replace the borough's lights three times a year. Germusa said there must be some mix-up or misunderstanding.

McCreary suggested that Council increase the lighting of Midland Ave., the main street. He said for an increase of $322 a month, the borough can have color-corrected mercury lights installed, doubling the illumination. The borough pays over $600 a month now.

He said the borough now is the best lighted in the county, including back streets and alleys, but with increased lighting the main street would be better than Beaver's. Council agreed to convey the recommendation to the commission to be included in the borough's comprehensive plan.

Council gave permission to Atty. Robert J. Masters, borough solicitor, to cut curbing for a driveway at his lot in Plan K.

A request from Mr. and Mrs. Earl McGee to rent the borough's house at the incinerator plant was ordered filed with those of other applicants.

Mrs. Ruby Ingraham of Sunrise Hills attended to ask about developments in the comprehensive plan. She offered suggestions for improving the borough and was invited to submit them at the next meeting of the commission.

She also asked why Council meets on Thursday nights instead of Wednesday nights, which prevents the weekly newspaper from reporting Council's meetings the next day.

Councilmen said the Thursday meetings were set in order that all members might attend since some cannot attend on other nights. Corak said Thursday meetings were held from about 1946 to 1958 and Council met on Wednesday for only about two years. Germusa said the meeting dates are set at the reorganization meeting in January.

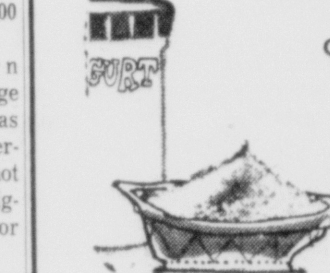

Council voted to pay all bills and to dispense with the reading of borough officers' reports on a motion by Councilman William Vinovich.

How food fads can fool you

We don't mean there's anything wrong with eating yogurt and wheat germ and so on. They are fine, healthful foods. But here's the rub. Advocates of some food fads promise benefits that diet alone can't deliver. Occasionally, someone with a medical problem will try to solve it by living mostly on cabbage juice or some such thing. Special foods and diets, however, have limitation—can be harmful when improperly used. So if you think there's anything wrong with you, by all means see your physician.

named Marshal Ivan S. Konev, former military commander of the Warsaw Pact, to command Soviet forces drawn up against the West in Germany.

The Communist press made no fuss about the appointment. Neues Deutschland, the official party organ, carried the one-sentence report in bold type, on page one, under a small headline.

Bolz told Parliament Berlin would remain a free city—but under Communist definition this would mean withdrawal of Western garrisons posted against such Communist devices as "spontaneous demonstrations."

With Berlin in Communist hands, East Germany would be virtually sealed off from the West and its people would be unable to flee.

Stoph warned that new measures might be taken to stop the refugee flow, now approaching 150,000 for this year, and he hinted they might be taken even before a peace treaty is signed.

"The generosity of the state organs of the German Democratic Republic over travel has been shamelessly misused by the traders in humans for their dirty aims," Stoph said.

He gave no details but it appeared that some form of ban on travel to Berlin and West Germany is in the works, perhaps a decree that special permits will be required for East Germans. That would enable the police to turn back those without the permits—which undoubtedly would be given only to the politically reliable.

Red police were reported busy turning people off trains headed for Berlin. But nevertheless thousands still reach West Berlin, spurred by the increasingly belligerent speeches of Khrushchev and other Communist leaders threatening to close off their escape route.

Closing the border might result in an uprising that could run out of control and provide even greater dangers to world peace.

A West Berlin paper, Morgenpost, commented today in an editorial: "The mood in the (East) zone is near the boiling point. If the safety valve provided by Berlin is shut, it can come to an explosion."

Bolz concentrated in his speech on the international aspects of the planned peace treaty, but he made clear it would give East Germany what it regards as the right to keep refugees from making the final and decisive step of their journey—a flight through Western air corridors to West Germany.

He said a peace treaty would open the way for "the military neutrality of both German states and so to a neutral, peacefully unified Germany."

Thus it also was becoming increasingly clear that one of the Communist aims in provoking the Berlin crisis is to force Western recognition of the East German regime.

The West has withheld recognition on the ground that such a move would help perpetuate the postwar division of Germany, represent acquiescence to Soviet power in the nation's Eastern half and help persuade Germans in the East that they must get used to Communist rule rather than hoping it may eventually disappear.

One Certainty Pinned Down

Among a very few certainties about Berlin, which seems to move closer to the United States day by day, is the effect of losing four million Germans through the escape hatch the city represents for East Germans.

They have left East Germany virtually barren of doctors, lawyers and skilled technicians. Even farmers have begun to flee from East Germany. It is estimated that East Germany has lost close to 20 per cent of its elite population.

The effect has been so severe it is reflected in official census figures. The repressive measures of East Germany, leading up to the sealing off of the western sector of Berlin last week to thousands of East Berliners who held jobs there could not have been postponed much longer. East Germany has reached the end of the line.

Measures to seal off the east sector of Berlin to outsiders will come next. West Berliners will not be allowed to go east. East Berliners who escape to the West by pretending to travel to West Berlin for a day's shopping will be stopped at the border.

The flow of escapes from Communism in July reached the highest total since the unsuccessful uprising of June 17, 1953. It will be stopped. That is certain. This will happen whether or not there is war over Berlin. And the reason for the certainty goes far toward explaining why there is unlikely to be war over Berlin.

East Germans dislike Russian dominance. They do not like East Germans who have consented to be Russia's stooges. There is no evidence of homogeneity in East Germany. It is not a nation, not even a cohesive puppet state. It is a land of prisoners.

Russians do not like East Germans, or any Germans, for that matter. Germans have been their relentless enemies. If Russian troops had to rely on East German troops to carry out their military work, they would be leaning on weak reeds.

What would happen if the escape hatch were batted down tight is anybody's guess. Heinrich von Brentano, West German foreign minister, says it would create panic in East Germany. If it were batted down by the West, it would signify that East Germany was being abandoned to Communism.

But if it were batted down by the East Germans, it would signify that they despaired of being able to stem the tide of emigration to West Germany.

A disturbing aspect of the exodus is pointed out by cynical observers in West Berlin. They suggest that many of the refugees must be moving west now because they think it is their last chance. They risk arrest or death to get across the border while there still is time because time is running out for them. They doubt that the West can or will hold Berlin.

What would happen if riots broke out in East Berlin and West Berliners surged to the rescue of their fellow Germans in violation of border restriction? What would be West Germany's official position?

Franz-Josef Strauss, West German defense minister, says Bonn would do nothing, but what was ordered by the North Atlantic Treaty command. And what would it do. No one knows.

Be A Lion In New York

To even the score on police troubles in New York, a city so nearly out of hand that its protectors must defend themselves against an often hostile citizenry, there is the tale of the lion in the parked car. This was a police triumph.

When the parking attendant saw the beast, he summoned the police, who came in 10 patrol cars, several emergency trucks and a truck of the American Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. They surrounded the parked car containing the lion, guns drawn and ready for the kill. Even after the SPCA official noted the beast was chained in place, they were on the alert, so much so they threw a heavy net over the car and tied it down with ropes.

The lion was calm, though a crowd now surrounded him. There was a spot of blood on the car door, and this added to the tension. And finally the lion's owner, Richard Flynn, 36, a lion tamer of St. Louis showed up. He explained that the lion, a 16-month-old male, was docile and was being taken to a country fair in Maryland. Flynn saw nothing unusual about the situation; he said it was only the New York reaction that was unusual. Elsewhere, people were friendly and unafraid.

To cut a short story long, Flynn drew four summonses—one for being cruel to an animal, one for violating the health code, one for bringing a wild animal into the city and one to the parking lot operator for letting a wild animal use the premises.

If you want full protection in New York City, be a lion. Otherwise, someone might mistake you for a policeman and no one would notice you were being kicked to a pulp, which is what has happened recently to several New York policemen in the midst of crowds.

Welcome Interest

An increasing interest in the operation of the public schools in various Columbiana County communities is indicated by the number of candidates for school board posts.

Races are assured for all but three of the county's 13 boards, with 9 making a bid in the East Liverpool school district. This is in contrast to the time several years ago when it was difficult to get anyone to run for the board here.

Schools are big business and require competent administration. School boards play a most important role in the over-all picture.

The large number of candidates seeking the posts is a healthy sign.

Progress Report From Newburgh

In the way of such stories, Newburgh's attempt to reform relief practices has turned stale.

New York state officials moved in and did their best to make Newburgh's reform program look silly by challenging its legality.

Organized welfare workers adopted starchy resolutions against the program.

It has become involved in national politics when Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater went out of his way to put himself on favor of Newburgh after New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, another Republican presidential hopeful, had put himself on record in doubt of it.

But in Newburgh events moved on. Some decisions were tempered by expediency, but the city manager and his backers in city council stuck firmly by their conviction that women who made a practice of bearing illegitimate children should not get public relief, though their children should be given every consideration; that able-bodied men on relief should work for their keep; that relief careereists should be separated periodically from relief rolls as an incentive to be self-supporting.

The newest idea in Newburgh, as expressed by its city manager, Joseph McD. Mitchell, is perspective for social workers.

He says, "Social workers feel society has a responsibility to the people. We feel the people have a responsibility to society."

Mr. Mitchell expects to give Newburgh social workers a new outlook on their jobs. Rather, he says he expects to give Newburgh a new outlook on social work.

"I have foreseen the idea of reorienting any professional caseworkers," he explained. "I tried it for the last six months and I failed. We will not fire anybody, but there will be attrition." The new welfare commissioner of Newburgh is a former physical training instructor who shares the city manager's thoughts on the people's responsibility to society. New caseworkers will see it that way or else.

Newburgh's impact on the Americans has been felt wherever public relief is given out. Shocking as the Newburgh reforms have been to social workers and some of their clients, they have not been shocking to the general citizenry, which has kept itself from seeing what it didn't want to see—that some relief clients are taking advantage of public relief and that this is being done in some instances with the knowledge and even the approval of welfare workers who do not agree with Mr. Mitchell that people have a responsibility to society.

The Once Over

Major Titov is a brave and dedicated hero, but he will never be known as "Silent" Herman. He proved a man can be weightless, but not talkless. He is not only a colorful, good looking performer, but writes his own dialogue.

Khrushchev has been sounding off as if he had flown ahead of Vistok II as an outer-space guide and publicity agent. Titov was suspended in space 25 hours and Nikita has been suspended in boasts, exhortations and adjectives ever since.

Soviet feat was epochal and nobody will be flabbergasted to hear Khrushchev has landed first all-Russian ballet dance troupe on moon.

Russians are no brainier than our Edisons, Morges and Wright Brothers, so the fact they are making us look like bush leaguers must be due to fast work between blueprint and performance, not blocked by committees, conferences, hassles, coffee breaks and general snafu. And they're not concentrating on electric dishwashers, de luxe cars and iceboxes.

It's humiliating to hear triumphant Soviet spaceship global excursionist saying, "I'm an eagle; what's new with you?"

We have been taught to believe that Americans were the top flight engineers or scientists of the world. To hear Khrushchev twist the Ethel Merman song into "I can fly anything better than you can" is exasperating. But it wouldn't surprise us to hear that Moscow had put the Volga Boatman in orbit.

Khrushchev is certainly the Garmun of the Red world. His sense of sensationalism, circus stuff, advertising and timing is terrific.

Cyrus Eaton, American capitalist who got his fortune under the American Way, had Gagarin as his house guest at the moment the new spaceship took off. Cyrus may try to hit the moon with that three-horse Russian hitch or "troika."

In the meantime Khrushchev seems out to become the world's best bad actor, as he struts the stage in one of the most dramatic moments of history, using Major Titov's flight to intimidate the earth.

It's The Company He Keeps

West Berlin Stands Prepared

By Victor Riesel

It was high noon and the grim, green - uniformed, black-booted "vo-po" (Volkspolizei) and I faced each other. The Communist cop passed hundreds like him on my way to the Potsdamer Platz and then on to the old City Hall in the Western Sector, where governing Mayor Willy Brandt told me in practical terms what it means to prepare to hold the free city under a possible siege.

The 47-year-old embattled mayor was tense in the troubled air but not nervous, not frightened. He, like his colleague, the "operations" mayor, (the city has two chief executives) Franz Amrehn, does not believe Nikita Khrushchev will provoke us into a shooting war.

WHY ALL THIS crisis talk? The Soviets could try to take the city without even a burst of conventional shooting by the "vo-po" or the 110,000 strong East German Communist Volk's Army.

Some morning, for example, there could suddenly appear in West Berlin, some 50,000 members of the Russian secret "Kampf Gruppen" — the para-military civil-ian Communist groups.

They could attempt in the name of the people of Berlin, to seize the power houses, the radio, the rail station the S-Bahns, the U-Bahns, the City Hall itself, and set up a West Berlin government of their own.

That would do it. Not a military rifle need pop off. But West Berlin is prepared for these Communist cadres. For about a year now, young West Berliners have been going to their police stations.

There, they have been training to take over the gendarmeries' duties. They are all organized now and listed for special alerts.

Should there be any invasion, by the Communist Kampf Gruppen or by the East sector's "vo-po" or Volk's Army or by the Soviet army itself, the young Berliners would mobilize at their various police headquarters throughout the free city.

THEY WOULD NOT do the counter fighting. They would put on arm bands and become the city's police force — and the regular police, well armed, would instantaneously revamp itself into a fine little army. If they had to tackle the Kampf Gruppen, they would fight it out alone—and win.

If the regular Communist East German troops showed up—which is doubtful because the Russians fear they would defect with their arms in huge numbers — but if they did, the Western sector police would battle them with logistic aid from our own forces.

No one really believes the Red Army would ever move in. But if it did, the police would link up with Allied forces while Willy Brandt would hit the radio and call the police into the streets to the barricades.

They would hold the streets as long as possible — perhaps even long enough for Allied reinforcements to crash through. But, such a Communist attack is not likely to develop.

But what if the Soviets try to blockade the city once again? Willy Brandt and his aide swiftly spelled out the anti-siege strategy.

"It would not be pleasant," Brandt said. "But we could live almost normally for eight months without a plenolod of assistance from the outside. And if we ration what we have stockpiled, we can go 14 months."

BRANDT REVEALED West Berlin has printed millions of ration cards — enough for one million families.

This would be for food and gasoline. The latter would be in the scarcest supply. But there is enough coal on hand in open fields to last a year. During the '48 airlift, there was no coal. It had to be flown in. Now there is enough for a year's worth of fuel for electric power plants, gas production, heating and even cooking. There is cooking coal too, for the big mills.

There are industrial stockpiles — steel, equipment and spare parts for the huge Siemens plants, which produce radios, television sets, telephone equipment and electrical machinery. Manufacturers won't, of course, produce big Diesel engines for the Hamburg shipyards because they won't be able to fly them out.

There is enough industrial equipment stockpiled for about a year's production.

Why? Why not use the storage space for food and fuel? Because there must be normal employment and normal pursuits even under siege — with or without a single plenolod of help.

ALL THIS is not yet enough. Since the Khrushchev ultimatum, the city has sped its storage construction program. A new central food "market" has been created. Warehouses are being built.

All this is not the answer Willy Brandt says it simply shows that we are on the defensive.

"Let's take the offensive to him," says Brandt, meaning NSK. "Let's make him answer for all the failures inside East Germany and the Soviet bloc."

Let's ask him why he has failed to free his own people. Let's keep him off balance instead of letting him push us around."

Let's.

Vacation Verdict

By Truman Twill

The only thing left to write about before going on vacation is vacation, itself. I quit trying to understand it years ago, and this is why:

My father worked all his life without a vacation and never complained. He had one of those jobs that was never done, so he plugged away until he was ready to scream, then took a few days off. He wouldn't have known what to do with an official vacation.

That's the way it was when I put on a white collar and began to peck a typewriter. The work never got done, and there were no vacations. We would take a week at our own expense when we couldn't stand the gaff any more. Otherwise, we just took a day off occasionally.

Later — much later — management made a concession to welfare by giving us a week each year on full pay with the option of a second week on no pay, and that proved to be satisfactory for a long time.

I don't recall how we went from that arrangement to two weeks with pay and then finally to three weeks after so many years of service. It doesn't seem important any more. Some friends who started to earn a living about the same time I started get a month's vacation a year, but that doesn't seem important, either.

Something has happened to the way I feel about vacations—and I never have understood what it is exactly. But I think it is connected some way with our moving to the country, because after that we no longer had the sense of needing to go away from home.

The lady I live with once said she could see no reason for putting on tight clothes and buzzing off on a heat-shimmering highway to get to some place no nicer than the place where she already was, for the privilege of spending a pot of money to prove she could afford to take a vacation. Or words to that effect.

That is part of what happened. Then there is the question of what we'd do with the animals.

Also the question of what would happen to the grass and weeds if the caretaker and his assistant went belting off during the growing season.

And also the question of where we'd go.

There is no point in seeking rusticity, peace, or quiet. We already have these at no added cost.

Swimming is no attraction because we don't swim. Neither do we play golf, gamble, shoot pool, climb mountains, explore caves, or own a boat.

And that's what happened to the way I feel about vacations. Starting next week, I can do what I please for three weeks. After spending the first day asleep, I'll decide what to do with the rest, like the lady I live with, who has been on vacation since June and never has been busier.

Nikita's Real Worry

By David Lawrence

Fate Of Communism Rests In East Germany

IN EUROPE Nikita Khrushchev's real dilemma doesn't stand out clearly because no single event points it up, but it is real just the same. He is up against a problem in East Germany which will never be solved by trying to make Communists out of the majority of the German people.

All the world fears a nuclear war, because one is, of course, possible. But it isn't probable.

This is recognized by the foreign ministers who have been meeting in Paris and by the Communist spokesmen who have been broadcasting their propaganda threats from Moscow.

Mr. Khrushchev himself is somewhat dumfounded by what he now calls the "war psychosis."

He knows the West wouldn't start a nuclear war, and he himself doesn't dare to do so, either.

He is well aware that his 20-year plan and the aspirations of Communism to dominate the world cannot be realized on the debris of a devastated humanity. What, then, is the international sparring match about?

The Soviet premier is desperately trying to save East Germany from being absorbed some day by a prosperous and efficient West Germany. Communism is far from a success in East Germany, as evidenced by the steady flow of refugees to West Germany.

Also, Poland is restless. So is Czechoslovakia. So is Hungary.

The fate of communism is at stake in East Germany and Mr. Khrushchev will try in any way he can to get that separate peace treaty signed, even if it finally means letting West Berlin sit alone.

The test will not come — as has been so often assumed — by a deliberate or major attempt to block the Allied routes of access to West Berlin. It will come in gradual stages, and at a slow and exasperating pace, after a peace treaty with East Germany has been signed later this year.

Chimaxes will arise one after another as East German customs guards or troops delay or block traffic here and there, only to remove the obstructions when a real fuss is made about it by the Allies.

Western troops will continue to be in readiness nearby but the Soviets will never give them an opportunity to do any fighting.

Also, on the Western side the futility of a military operation to stop interferences with Allied traffic will sooner or later become apparent. Instead, other measures, primarily in the economic field, may have to be undertaken.

Look At The Record

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Before your blood pressure goes up thinking of Fidel Castro and hijacked American planes, look at the record. It's a dizzy, almost incredible story, compounded of confusion.

So far as the record shows Castro initiated none of the hijackings. There were four. Three of the four planes were forced to land in Cuba. Castro immediately released two, kept one. The fourth got detoured to El Paso.

None of the five hijackers involved was a Cuban citizen. Two were Americans from Arizona, one was a Frenchman, one a Puerto Rican, and one, a waiter, was born in Cuba but had become a naturalized American citizen.

Meanwhile Cubans fleeing Castro hijacked or flew 24 of his planes to this country. The United States returned 14 of them to him. The other 10 were seized under a court order to be sold for a debt owed by the Cuban government to a Miami businessman.

And if Castro had used his head he probably would have gotten the 10 back, too. How? A State Department spokesman said: If Castro had invoked Cuban sovereignty over the planes the American court most likely would have refused to let the planes be seized.

Why didn't he do that, since it sounds so simple? The State Department spokesman said this was the answer: He probably didn't know how he could do that, or he didn't think of it, or perhaps he couldn't find a lawyer to represent him here.

But that's only the beginning. Wednesday a French gunman, over Mexico and at gunpoint, forced the pilot of a Pan American World Airways plane with 81 persons aboard to fly him to Havana. After it was all over an official of the airline said the gunman was incoherent and had no connection with Cuba. Crew members described the hijacker as wild eyed and apparently mentally disturbed.

Before all this was known there

IT IS SIGNIFICANT that the State Department in Washington announced on Aug. 4 that for the time being a total trade embargo on the Communist bloc as a counter-measure to Soviet pressure on Berlin had been shelved.

The exact words of the announcement are worth noting:

"It is only natural that Soviet threats with respect to Berlin should have stimulated considerable speculation concerning counter - measures, including action in the economic field. Now it is possible that if the Soviet government continues its threatening attitude toward the vital interests of the United States and its allies, we will be obliged to reconsider all aspects of our relations, including economic, with the Soviet Union and the countries of the Soviet bloc."

These few words have more meaning to the Moscow government than all the talk of more military divisions in NATO or the calling up of reservists for the economic weapon can be the most powerful of all in forcing the Kremlin to abandon its harassment of Allied routes to West Berlin.

CRITICS OF the economic-warfare idea are saying that the same thing was tried in the 1930's before World War II, and failed due to disagreements among the anti-Hitler allies. But the threat of a conventional war in those days aroused less interest in an economic blockade than does the fear of a nuclear war and, if such a situation should really materialize, economic blockades will come promptly as a matter of course.

At present, such measures are only in the "contingency planning" stage, which is the correct way to deal with this weapon at the moment.

The Western foreign ministers discussed the problem at length in Paris this week, but gave only vague hints to the press as to the nature of their studies.

The potential danger to the Kremlin of an economic blockade is the impact it might produce inside the Communist - bloc countries.

There would be little chance of holding East Germany together.

The demoralizing effect it might have on Poland and the other Communist - bloc countries cannot be overestimated.

THE EXODUS of refugees to the West would be multiplied, factories would close down, unemployment would ensue.

Damage would be done to Allied trade, too, and the so-called neutral countries would have a hard time of it because the demand would naturally arise also to cut them off from essential trade with the West if any of them played ball with the Communists.

Any blockade is a last-resort measure but it is possible — and Nikita Khrushchev knows it.

were angry shouts in Congress. But Castro would not have had to send an agent to Mexico to capture a Pan American plane. Pan American is the only American airline still maintaining regular flights between Cuba and this country. So if Castro wanted to, he could have helped himself to some Pan American planes on the ground in Havana.

But this would have been the worst possible time to hijack an American plane. All the American nations are meeting right now in Uruguay where the United States has offered $20 billion in Latin-American aid.

One of Castro's chief lieutenants, Ernesto Guevara, is here, trying to make the United States look like a villain. He made a speech to that effect. Castro would be the villain if he turned hijacker at this time.

The truly ludicrous touch came here:

Instead of trying to chastise Castro directly, the United States is anxious for the Latin-American countries to crack down on him. No one has been working harder to get just this crackdown on Castro than the Colombian foreign minister, Julio Cesar Turbay Ayala. And Castro knows it. By chance, the minister was on the plane hijacked Wednesday and forced down in Havana.

o If Castro had tried to hold him there would have been a Latin-American explosion.

Senate Vote Set On Aid Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., leads an apparently doomed fight today against President Kennedy's request for authority to borrow money to finance five years of economic development loans abroad.

Byrd's amendment requiring the President to come back to Congress each year for appropriations was set for a Senate vote tonight after seven hours of debate. Each side will have 3½ hours to discuss the amendment with debate to start shortly after disposal of routine business. The Senate arranged to meet an hour early.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana worked out this arrangement Thursday with unanimous Senate support. Under the agreement, the Senate will remain in session as late as necessary to vote on the Byrd amendment.

Kennedy's request for borrowing authority for a five-year, $8.1-billion program of loans to struggling nations is the chief item of controversy in the pending foreign aid bill.

The bill provides $4,326,500,000 in foreign aid this year, including $1,187,000,000 in the loan funds.

In a prepared Senate speech, Byrd, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and a spokesman for the Senate's economy bloc, declared: "This is no time to relax control over any public spending, or to increase the public debt unnecessarily."

Byrd charged the Kennedy program would promote "poor risk" loans with no certainty of repayment.

He estimated that if no repayments are made over the maximum 50-year loan spans the added compound interest on the federal debt would total $29.7 billion.

Echoing the major contention of opponents of the proposed loan system, Byrd said all the money for the loan fund would come from the backdoor of the Treasury, "outside of effective annual appropriations control."

Administration leaders claimed they would turn back the Byrd amendment by a margin of 5 to 7 votes. They are counting on at least 6 of the Senate's 36 Republican votes. Byrd claimed he had the support of 43 to 45 of the Senate's 100 members.

Kennedy Gets $46.6 Billion Defense Fund

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress, shouting its approval, has given President Kennedy a record peacetime defense budget, including about a billion dollars more than he asked.

By voice votes Thursday, House and Senate accepted a conference committee report on the $46.6-billion appropriation bill.

That completed action just 16 days after Kennedy asked for an additional $3.5 billion to strengthen conventional forces in the face of new Communist threats.

Congress voted an extra $325 million to continue production of B52 bombers, an additional $225 million to develop the 2,000-mile-an-hour B70 bomber—which the administration has cut back contending it would be superseded by missiles before it could become operational—and extra money for stepping up National Guard and reserve strength.

The bill also carried $207.6 million Kennedy requested for an intensified civil defense shelter program.

Tobin Slated To Air Quota With DiSalle

Columbiana County Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin and four other juvenile judges will confer Monday with Gov. Michael V. DiSalle at Columbus concerning his recommendation for quotas at the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster and Girls Industrial School at Delaware.

Judge Albert Woldman of Cleveland heads the committee of state juvenile judges, which also includes Judge Robert Ford of Geauga County, Judge Don Young of Huron County and Judge Benjamin Schwartz of Cincinnati.

Gov. DiSalle has recommended that a county quota system be utilized for juveniles sent to the correction institutions. The boys' school, built to handle 500, has more than 900 inmates, while the girls school is 100 over its capacity of 200, the governor has said.

Judge Tobin said juveniles previously were sent to the schools on specific admission days, but under a quota system, the county would have to hold its juvenile offenders until the quota day came up at the school.

The judge said the county has two detention rooms, but they are not designed for holding juveniles for any length of time.

against the Soviet Union, he would not hesitate to send rockets raining on the orange orchards of Italy.

He said the same thing would happen to other small countries that harbor NATO bases, such as Greece and Norway.

The Soviet premier departed from his notes and launched into a table-thumping display of disdain and ridicule directed at the United States.

President Kennedy, he said, is having a difficult time reassessing his nation's values.

"There, a person may be a beggar or king as he chooses," he said.

Khrushchev said the United States is "accustomed to have people speak to them with downcast eyes—fastened on their shoes or trousers."

He said this was because the Americans had gotten used to thinking of themselves as the most powerful nation on earth.

"But we too are a powerful country," Khrushchev continued and demanded respect from the United States for "his majesty, the working class."

Wreck Case Airing Reset

A hearing for a Midland motorist, charged with reckless driving after a spectacular crash Tuesday night in which he and a Pittsburgher were injured and four cars and a home damaged, was continued today in Municipal Court until next Friday morning.

James Ott, 34, of 452 Midland Ave. pleaded guilty but Judge Samuel M. Chertoff ordered the continuance to allow Ott time to work out an agreement for the damages.

The Midland resident was charged by police after his car collided with an auto operated by Joseph Jordan, 57, of Pittsburgh at the intersection of W. 5th and Jefferson Sts.

Jordan's car was rammed into a utility pole by the impact and Ott's car continued down the street, striking the parked cars of Dorothy Vodrey, 313 1/2 W. 5th St., and A. Loretta Maley, 1510 Lincoln Ave., Wellsview, which were parked on the opposite sides of the street.

A steel box was thrown out of Ott's car, damaging a door at the home of Mrs. M. F. McKeever, 300 W. 5th St., police added.

Harry C. McElroy, 48, of Dewey Ave. was fined $10 and costs by Judge Chertoff this morning as the aftermath of a collision Monday afternoon in which his year-old daughter was injured.

McElroy, who had pleaded not guilty, was convicted by Judge Chertoff of failing to yield the right-of-way after he crossed from the right to left lanes on E. 5th St. and struck a car operated by Mary E. Maley, 19, of R. D. 2.

The case had been continued from Tuesday until today to permit her appearance.

Joseph J. Canavan of Youngstown, cited by the State Highway Patrol Monday afternoon for passing a slow-moving truck over a double yellow line on the Cannons Mill hill, was fined $10 and costs after he pleaded guilty.

Discussion was held on public housing and how Federal Housing Authority loans can be made in the county. Gosney expects to confer on the problem over the weekend with Rep. Wayne L. Hays at Washington.

Gosney said he hopes to obtain a speaker on the subject for a meeting in October.

Committee chairmen for the dinner will be announced in a few days.

man said, and he swung to the left to avoid a collision but lost control and struck the homes.

Extensive damage was caused to the front porch at the home of Alma Howell, 513 E. 6th St., when struck by a tractor-trailer outfit of Hennis Freight Lines operated by Roscoe G. Goins, 35, of Mt. Airy, N. C.

Police said the porch was knocked loose from the home.

Titov

man pilot is able to control his space ship manually, make scientific observations and land his craft on any spot on earth.

Titov told the newsmen he regarded his historic flight round and round the earth as "something natural," that it did not seem like anything extraordinary because he had trained so thoroughly for it.

He said his training as a fighter pilot had been most important in preparing him for his space assignment and that he was morally inspired to carry out his task by love of country and the Soviet people.

Going into a detailed account of his flight from the moment he blasted off at 9 a.m. Aug. 6, Titov said that he experienced no ill effects from the acceleration forces, noise and vibration of the takeoff.

Once in space, he continued, the cabin of his spaceship Vostok II was flooded with sunlight and he could see the bright, sunlit surface of the earth and at the same time the stars—"clear and bright points on a black background."

Both his instruments and information transmitted from earth confirmed that he was in the predetermined orbit, he said.

At 10 a.m., an hour after blast-off, Titov said, he switched to manual control of the ship. He said he had complete control over the craft, could orient it in any direction and could send it on any course he desired.

He next used the manual control in his seventh orbit, Titov said.

Throughout the flight "reliable communication with the ground" was maintained on short wave and ultra short wave radio.

Even at his farthest point from earth he established contact with the ground with no difficulty, he said.

He said his radio apparatus also picked up ordinary longwave radio broadcasts from stations all over the world.

Playlot Vandalism Cut By Siren Alarm Usage

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Parks officials said at a budget hearing that a siren alarm system at an east side playground has been an effective weapon against vandalism. Damage at the playground has "dropped almost to nothing," the officials reported.

In contrast, a recent weekend of vandalism at another playground resulted in $2,300 damage. The alarms, which cost about $2,000 installed, are planned for all 93 buildings in the city's parks and playgrounds.

Funds For Highlandtown Dam Await State Action

A $250,000 appropriation for a dam for Highlandtown Lake is included in a deferred measure due for consideration in November session of the Ohio Assembly, State Rep. Clarence (Dutch) Wetzel told the Kiwanis Club Thursday.

Wetzel said the funds for the lake project are part of a $42.7 million additions and betterments bill on which action failed in the Senate the final day of the regular session because of a tie vote.

Wetzel said the funds for the project would not come from regular tax sources in the state, but from revenue from hunting and fishing licenses and from the state's share of federal taxes on sale of sports equipment throughout the nation.

Wetzel said $148,000 has been spent so far for land for the lake development, which he termed "too much money" because of prices asked by property owners and the resulting court actions. He said the lake could have been started two years ago had it not been for the delay in obtaining the properties.

The representative spoke on the activities of the 104th General Assembly, citing as accomplishments the passage of anti-gambling laws, school foundation program changes and efforts to improve aspects of the unemployment benefits law.

Wetzel criticized Gov. Michael DiSalle's vetoes of assembly bills, and declared the legislature had attempted to keep the state's financial operations on "an even keel." He said no new taxes were adopted — as promised by the Republican party — except for a boost on the house trailer tax which does not apply to the public in general.

He termed the governor's policies "spendthrift," and said the GOP organization intends to follow the governor's tour around the state with its own speakers in order to "tell the truth."

Wetzel was introduced by Merrill Hall, program chairman. About 35 attended. H. Jud English, president, was in charge.

Draft Quota 'Tops' Since Korean War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The draft quota for September was set today at 25,000 men, biggest since the end of the Korean War.

The Defense Department announcement for the September call reflected the first full-scale manpower impact of the military buildup, although a smaller increase had been made in the August call through revision of the initially announced quota.

As usual all draftees for September will be for the Army, now getting ready to build up three of its divisions into combat units.

The announcement said, "The Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force do not intend to place calls with Selective Service during September."

The September call is the largest since June 1953 when the quota was 32,000.

It will bring the total of men who have been drafted since September 1950, immediately after the outbreak of the Korean War to 2,640,950.

Measles And Mothers-to-Be

Q. Will you please discuss the dangers of German measles in mothers-to-be?

A. If an expectant mother contracts rubella (German measles) early in pregnancy, the chances are about 1 in 6 that the baby will be stillborn or born with some defect. This can happen even though the mother has had measles as a child and is therefore "immune." The "immune" mother may show few or no measles symptoms, but the measles virus can attack the developing baby. The best preventive measure is for the expectant mother to avoid all exposure to measles, regardless of whether she herself is immune to the disease.

Q. How can tobacco stains be removed from the fingers?

A. The easiest way is to rub the stained skin with a fine pumice stone or with a household scrubbing powder, being careful not to irritate the skin. Bleaching with hydrogen peroxide is sometimes effective.

Q. My baby is now 4 months old and the soft spot in her head has already gone away. Isn't it early for this to occur?

A. Early closure of the fontanel ("soft spot"), although unusual, is quite consistent with normal development. However, it is a wise precaution to have the baby checked from time to time by a physician.

Answers do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

One Says 'High,' Other 'Low'

Democratic, GOP Heads Differ On U.S. Prestige

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey says U.S. prestige is "very high," but Republican National Chairman William E. Miller says it is "at the lowest ebb of all time."

Those opposing views of how the U.S. image overseas has fared during the first months of the Kennedy administration were given by the chairmen on a debate-style television program—CBS "Joint Appearance"—Thursday nights.

Miller said President Kennedy has ceased taking any prestige polls overseas since the campaign because "he wouldn't be interested in knowing the results."

Bailey said: "I feel that the country and the world knows that America has a leader, and that the prestige of the United States is high."

During the 1960 election campaign the parties took reverse positions. Democrats claimed it was slipping and Republicans said it remained high.

Miller said he thought it "is a lack of firmness which has destroyed our prestige." He cited "our indecision in Laos, the fiasco in Cuba."

In rebuttal, Bailey said both the Cuban and Laotian situations were inherited from the Republican administration and that the American public doesn't believe they are "partisan" matters.

Salem Man Given 1-20 Years In Prison

LISBON — Robert L. Dotson, 47, of the Metzger Hotel, Salem, was sentenced to 1-20 years in the State Penitentiary Thursday by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp after he had admitted to a morals violation.

Dotson was indicted for sodomy by the September 1959 Grand Jury and pleaded not guilty but on June 12 changed his plea to guilty. He was sent to Lima State Hospital for observation and a report before being sentenced.

Toledo Woman Faces Term In Jail Escape Plot

KENTON, Ohio (AP)—Patricia Shelby, 24, of Toledo faces a one to five-year term in prison after being convicted Thursday on charges of smuggling a gun into the Lucas County jail at Toledo to aid in a planned escape.

The trial was moved to Hardin County Common Pleas Court here when Miss Shelby's attorney claimed extensive publicity made it impossible to impanel an impartial jury in Toledo.

Judge Arthur Tudor ordered Miss Shelby held in Lucas County jail pending sentencing.

Edward Ott, awaiting sentencing on a burglary charge, testified Miss Shelby slipped him the pistol and a box of bullets during a visit to her brother, Donald Wagner, who also was a prisoner at the jail. The gun and bullets were discovered by deputies before the escape could be carried out.

Marine Reservists May Apply Locally

As part of the buildup to the 190,000 man Marine Corps authorized by Congress, Gen. David M. Shoup, commandant, has announced that 2,500 reservists below the rank of sergeant could apply for extended active duty with the regular Marine Corps.

Sgt. James Aubrey said local reservists may contact the Marine Recruiting Station at the City Hall, phone FU, 6-4181.

This is a voluntary program and applies to all Marine Corps Reservists regardless of whether they are in an organized unit or in an inactive status.

Prior to this announcement, a reservist could obtain active duty only by vacating his reserve status and joining the regular Marine Corps for a four-year period.

Maj. John A. Daskalakis, officer in charge of the Marine Corps recruiting service in Western Pennsylvania Area, said Reservists desiring to apply for extended active duty should contact the nearest Marine Corps Reserve Training Center or the East Liverpool recruiter.

Civic Music Group Returns Ernest Lowe As President

Ernest Lowe was retained for a third term as president of the Civic Music Association at a meeting Thursday night at his home on Wedgewood Ave.

Others elected were Mrs. Beulah Malkin, first vice president; Mrs. William Vodrey Jr., second vice president; Miss Olive Williamson, secretary, and Frank Richmond, treasurer.

Lowe presided for business. The group voted to change the name of the organization to "Tri-State Civic Music Association." Plans were made to expand to outlying areas of East Palestine, Lisbon, Columbiana, Midland, Salem, Chester, Newell and Wellsville.

Due to a demand, the concerts for this season have been scheduled for Sunday afternoon. Three programs have been definitely booked and another is under consideration, depending on the membership sale.

Mrs. Herbert Plotts, Mrs. Malkin and Don Schreckengost were appointed to a committee to name a Board of Directors. Division leaders and captains will be chosen later.

The kick-off dinner is scheduled Sept. 15 at St. Aloysius Parochial School Hall. Mrs. Meyer Alpern will be chairman.

None Hurt As Fire Razes Home Of Aged

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—No one was hurt Thursday night when fire gutted a good part of an auxiliary two-story brick building at the Mercycrest Home for the Aged on the North Side. At least 15 persons including employees and residents were evacuated.

The aged residents were taken to Mercy Hospital, on the same grounds as the home.

Fire Chief Willard Compton estimated damages in excess of $10,000.

He declined to confirm the theory of some residents that lightning hit the building during a thunderstorm and started the blaze. The residents said they heard a loud noise like thunder and then saw flames.

Another Old TV Adage Hits The Junk Pile

Remember the old adage? Movie stars don't fade away, they just go on television.

Now you can junk that old adage now. It's no longer true. An old movie star can't even get himself arrested on TV these days.

Fred MacMurray, who came on TV with his "My Three Sons" series last season, may be the last one to cross over. You can't count Bob Cummings and his new CBS series coming up. He made the TV switch years ago and has had two other series. Likewise, Robert Young, who premieres his second TV series Oct. 2.

A whole stable full of fading movie stars are trying to get themselves launched in TV series now but with no luck. A few years ago they could have written their own contracts.

"WHY SHOULD I cast old movie names in my TV series?" asks one raw-nerved TV producer, who then proceeds to deliver the following soliloquy:

"They (the movie stars) always want part ownership, and then they tell you how to do the series. TV makes its own stars anyway. Was Jim Garner a name before he did 'Maverick'? Look at Gardner McKay. After two seasons of 'Adventures in Paradise,' he can't go on a p.a. (personal appearance) tour without getting mobbed by the fans.

"And who says movie stars help a TV series? Look what happened to Joel McCrea and John Payne and Barbara Stanwyck."

As a result of this more or less typical attitude among TV's major independent producers, viewers this coming season will be plagued with another wave of non-names like Mark Richmond, Barry Corbin, Cynthia Pepper, Rhodes Reason, Brian Kelly, Richard Chamberlain and Vincent Edwards.

ALL OF THE aforementioned, and many more you've never heard of, will be popping up on your TV screens in new series during September and October.

If these new heroes are anything like the crop last season, viewers will need a tape measure and individual biographies to tell them apart. The mold they are poured from is used over and over again.

Our producer friend talks about Jim Garner and Gardner McKay, but they are the exceptions to the rule. Most of these nonfaces from last season remained as anonymous as a night watchman at Ft. Knox. If viewers got to know them at all, it was by their character names, not their real names.

IT'S TRUE they can't demand as much dough as an ex-movie star, but they present other behind-the-scenes problems. Jealousy rears its knotty head within the first few weeks.

On a one-hour series and there's hardly anything else coming up, the formats call for a minimum of two stock heroes and sometimes as many as four. At first these budding Cary Grants are so happy to have star billing they are as docile as lambs. But it's hardly any time at all before each one realizes that the series would bomb without him.

Isn't he getting the most fan mail? And didn't the critics say he registered on the home screens like a three-alarm fire? Where does this other Joe Blow get off asking the director to fatten up his part or he'll walk?

UNDER THESE circumstances, the set becomes a seething battleground for these ham warriors, and the producer spends most of his time acting as would-be arbiter.

I suppose we should be glad that a lot of new budding talent is getting a chance to break into the so-called big time, but every once in awhile it's nice to see a familiar face, too.

Pat O'Brien's "Harrigan & Son" series last season wasn't a very meaty morsel, but it was as good as much of the other stuff we were looking at, and I liked to watch Pat waltzing through the corny situations with his old aplomb.

He certainly was more convincing than a fuzzy-cheeked Doug McClure trying to convince me (in "Checkmate") that he's a big private eye!

Hunter Gives Crucible Data

In a report to stockholders for the quarter ending June 30, Joel Hunter, president of the Crucible Steel Co., said increased sales in the second quarter enabled the company to report a small amount of income despite heavy break-in costs of the new hot strip mill installed early in the year at the Midland Works.

He said, "The computer and much of the other electronic gear which will actuate the mill and record its production are not yet in operation. Production to date has been inefficient and costly as might be expected under existing conditions.

"Our preliminary trials nevertheless lead to the belief our expectations of this important facility will be amply fulfilled, as steady improvement in its efficiency is recorded week by week.

"Financial condition of the company has remained strong, with working capital of $54,586,000 and current assets more than four times current liabilities at June 30.

"The cost of new properties in the first half of the year was $5,332,000. Cash dividends were paid at the same rate on both preferred and common shares throughout the recession in spite of the unusual demands upon our resources," he said.

New X15 Rocket Ship, Pilot Join In Space Assault

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A new X15 rocket ship and pilot today joined in manned assault on space.

Navy Cmdr. Forrest Peterson hit 2,720 miles an hour in a check-out flight at half throttle.

His flight brought a second X15 into the program to test ways of returning men from space. With two planes on tap, the National Aeronautics and Space Agency hopes to advance the day X15s will rocket 50 miles high at 4,000 m.p.h.

It was the first time Peterson, 39, had flown an X15 with the big engine that set a winged-plane record of 3,603 m.p.h. in June. He flew the plane twice when it still had a small, temporary engine.

Future X15 re-entries into the atmosphere expected to help solve some of the problems spaceships will meet.

Peterson cut loose from the B52 mothership and landed 13 minutes later.

THE OTHER DAY

We got to talking about the Iron Age (1000 B. C.) as the beginning of the foundation upon which our complex civilization rests.

The trouble of course is that the Iron Age was the beginning of anything but "rest". Each century thereafter saw more and more unrest, and human upheaval kept pace with man's technological advances even if man didn't learn how to keep his society abreast of his industrial strides.

Now, there we go on a philosophical tangent, when what we really meant to get around to, is that if you trace things all the way back to very beginnings, the Iron Age was the dim beginning of the automobile, which is possibly one of the most beneficial and results that man can imagine. So the Iron Age brought the Mobile Age, with all its blessings and all its complications.

Whether your automobile brings you difficulties in proportion to its complex mechanism depends upon the car dealer. If, first of all, you obtain your car from a reliable dealer, and then have it maintained and serviced by such a conscientious dealer, you will seldom realize how really complex a mechanism it is.

We strive with all our heart to be such a dealer. As one example, in the lingo of the business a poor car is often referred to as a "load of iron," and when we get such a "load of iron" we consign it back to its beginnings or we wholesale it. We will never sell one to you.

10,000 Await All-Star Grid Game At Wheeling Saturday

Ford Wins 20th For First Time; Tigers Nip Chisox

West Virginia Squad Picked As Favorite

West Virginia will be out to better its overall record against Ohio, and the Buckeyes will concentrate on containing Weirton's sensational halfback Bob Kelley in the 19th annual valley All-Star football game Saturday night at Wheeling Island Stadium.

A crowd of 10,000 is expected for the battle, with favorable weather forecast. The kickoff is 8:30.

Coaching the favored Mountaineers is Charles Helinski of Moundsville, who performed in the first All-Star game in 1940, and helped coach West Virginia to a 13-0 victory in 1954.

Don Ault of Bellaire, former Irondale High School mentor, is guiding the fortunes of the Ohio squad and is well aware that he must contain the fast Weirton halfback for a victory.

Kelley scored three touchdowns against Ault's Bellaire squad in a regular season game last fall. Quarterbacking the squads will be Nelson Whipkey (Cameron) and southpaw Paul Kenny of Steubenville Central Catholic.

Ohio leads in the series, 11 victories to 7, and the Buckeyes have triumphed in three of the last four classics by one point.

The All-Star series was inaugurated in 1940, interrupted in 1942 because of World War II, and has continued from 1956 until now.

Both squads rested today after undergoing two weeks of drills at West Liberty State College.

A concert by the Wheeling and Bellaire High School bands from 6:30 to 7:30 will highlight the pregame show. Squads will take the gridiron for a warmup practice at 7:30 until 7:55.

A queen contest will be held at halftime, with 30 valley girls competing for the crown. Rep. Wayne L. Hays of Flushing, 18th district congressman, will crown the winner.

West Virginia may present a razzle-dazzle offensive attack with Kelley assigned to the starting left halfback role. Fast and elusive, he is termed one of the best runners in the country.

Starting at end for the Ohio squad will be end Mike Geon of East Liverpool. Roger Merriman of Wellsville High's Tigers is scheduled to start at center for the underdog Buckeyes.

Officials reminded fans today that there will be a supply of tickets available for purchase at the gate tomorrow night.

Roger's Wins Minor Loop's Playoff Title

Roger's Drive-In reigned today as champion of the Little Minor Baseball League after sweeping the deciding game of a best-of-three playoff series with Potters Savings & Loan Co. Thursday.

After losing the first game, 16-on-a no-hitter by Rick Steffen, the new champs came back to capture the second and third games for the title.

Roger's took the crown with a 6-5 triumph Thursday, with Gary Manning getting the pitching victory in relief of Dan Wolfe. Wolfe started, and went three innings. Manning hurled the final three frames.

Roger's plated the deciding run in the sixth inning to snap a 5-3 deadlock.

Both teams got four hits. Cooper was the losing pitcher.

Everett Watson slammed a pinch double in the fourth, and Dan Wolfe and catcher Mike Smith also doubled for the winners. Schmitzbauer singled for Roger's fourth hit.

Ricky Steffen socked a double for Potters Savings. Davis was behind the plate for the losers.

Bucs Edged; Spahn Seeks Magic '300'

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's a southpaw's world at the moment in major league baseball. Left-hander Whitey Ford, with his usual help from left-hander Luis Arroyo, has become the first 20-game winner of the season, and tonight left-hander Warren Spahn shoots for a rare 300th victory.

Spahn, pitching in his 17th season at 40, goes for the big one tonight for the Milwaukee Braves against the Chicago Cubs. If the National League's premier left-hander gets it, he'll be only the 13th pitcher ever to win 300 in the majors.

The last to do it was Lefty Grove, in 1941 with the Boston Red Sox. Eddie Plank is the only other southpaw 300-game winner.

The other 300-game winners, topped by Cy Young's 511, are Walter Johnson, Christy Mathewson, Grover Cleveland Alexander, Kid Nichols, Jim Galvin, Tim Keefe, John Clarkson, Mike Welch and Charles Radbourne.

Ford, who has a 153-61 record for 10 years in the majors, won 20 for the first time with a 3-1 decision over the Los Angeles Angels Thursday that kept the New York Yankees three games ahead of second-place Detroit in the American League race.

It was Whitey's 14th consecutive victory, tying the Yankee record set in 1904 by Jack Chesbro. It also marked the 16th time in Ford's 28 starts this season that Arroyo has trudged in from the bullpen.

The Ford-Arroyo combination has become such a ritual that one New York paper, The Mirror, headlined it: "Luis' Ford Wins 20th."

While the Yankees pushed their longest winning streak of the year through eight games, Detroit kept the pace by beating the Chicago White Sox 3-2. Baltimore beat Kansas City 8-0 and Boston defeated Minnesota 3-2 in the other AL games scheduled.

The St. Louis Cardinals won eight in a row for the first time this year with a 3-2 victory over Pittsburgh in the only NL game scheduled.

Ford (20-2), last a loser on June 29 at Boston, allowed eight of the Angels' nine hits before giving way to the heat and Arroyo in the eighth inning. It was the fourth victory Arroyo has saved for Ford, and he has been the finishing pitcher in six others.

Bobby Richardson, Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron homered for the Yankees runs off Jim Donohue (4-5), with Berra's fourth-inning shot breaking a 1-1 tie as the Angels failed to win any of their nine games at Yankee Stadium in the season series.

The Tigers made it eight out of 10 with a three-game sweep at Chicago. A double by Norm Cash and Chico Fernandez' single off Juan Pizarro (7-5) broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth inning. Don Mossi (13-2) was the winner, going all the way although allowing 11 hits.

Milt Pappas (8-6) blanked the A's on six hits. He breezed after the Birds scored five runs in the first inning, two on a single by Whitey Herzog, against Bill Kunkel (2-2). Dave Philley of Baltimore set an AL record with his 21st pinch hit of the season, topping the record set in 1936 by Parke Coleman of the St. Louis Browns with 20.

A third-inning double by Frank Malzone wrapped it up for the Red Sox as Tracy Stallard (1-1) won his first in the majors. Al Schroll (0-2) was the loser.

The Cardinals beat the Bucs with an unearned run in the seventh inning on Dick Stuart's error, hanging the loss on Earl Francis (1-5). Ray Sadecki (10-5) was the winner. He gave up eight hits, all singles except one—Bob Clemente's ninth-inning home run.

North's Slight Favorite In All-Star Game Tonight

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Both teams are prepared to use their aerial attacks, but the emphasis is expected to be on running in the 16th annual Ohio North-South All-Star high school football game here tonight.

Both squads include fleet-footed ball carriers who dazzled fans with their sprints and were among the state's leading scorers during the 1960 football season.

The South has a slight weight advantage, but the North has been installed as a slight favorite to win its fourth straight game. The Yankees already have an 8-5-2 edge in the series.

The South's backfield men average 179 pounds to the North's 177, and the Rebel linemen average 204 pounds to the North's 202.

Testing their talents for the North, coached by Tony Mason of Niles McKinley, are such ball carriers as Charley King of Alliance and Art Hastings of Massillon.

Southern Coach Jim Eby of Dayton Colonel White will counter with Tom Vaughn of Troy and Tom Fugate of Springfield South.

King, 185-pound halfback, was selected the most outstanding back in Ohio last season. Hastings, a 165-pounder who led Massillon to the state championship last year, will start at fullback.

Vaughn, the leading scorer in Ohio last season with 230 points, sparked Troy to a 9-1 record. Fugate led Springfield in scoring for the last two seasons.

The North's starters on offense: Ends — Don Davidson, Salem, and Jerry Miller, Canton South.

Tackles—Virgil Bukets, Massillon, and Ed Orazen, Euclid. Guards—Richard Hahn, Norton, and Ron Nestich, Mansfield. Center—Norm Nicola, Canton Central Catholic. Quarterback — Raymond Sanfrey, Rindfuss, Niles McKinley, and King. Fullback—Hastings.

The South's starters on offense: Ends — Terry Meyer, Dayton Colonel White, and John Henderson, Dayton Roosevelt. Tackles—Tom Kiehuss, Cincinnati Purcell, and Gary Gabriel, Columbus Franklin Heights. Guards — Bob Caesar, Upper Arlington, and Jim Gardner, Athens. Center — John Weaver, Dayton Colonel White.

Quarterback—Bill Gains, Dayton and Fugate. Fullback — Bob Hartley, Covington.

The coaching school held in connection with the game will end this afternoon and the coaches will be guests at the game. The 350 coaches attending the school were feted at a civic banquet Thursday night. Speakers were State Auditor James Rhodes and Fritz Howell, Associated Press sports editor for Ohio.

City Softball Ends Tonight

Regular season play in the City Softball League ends tonight with Wellsville meeting East End at Patterson Foundry field.

A chance for a tie for second place hinges on the outcome of the Wellsville-East End game, plus the one to be completed between East End and American Vitrified Products.

A special meeting of all managers will be held tonight at 6:45 at the Patterson Foundry field, and teams are asked to bring any money owed the league.

In action Thursday, AVP whipped Gallagher's Market, 3-1, and Wellsville triumphed over the Owls Club, 7-2.

Jim Ketchum led AVP at the plate with two hits, while Rich Jackson had two for the losers. Jack Henry got the pitching victory. Howard Wilson was the loser. Each pitched five-hitters.

Floyd Robinson of Wellsville defeated the Owls Club on a six-hitter. Chumura led the winners with three hits, while Rossi and Boston each had two. Krishner, Horner and Bowersock had two hits for the losers.

Brown Plans To Test Rookie Back Tonight

DETROIT (AP) — Coach Paul Brown of the Cleveland Browns will find out tonight whether a rookie halfback can make his sideline masterminding easier this season.

The coach plans to start newcomer Tom Watkins with veteran Jim Brown in the running spots against the Lions in the first pre-season exhibition game for both clubs. Cleveland beat the Lions in two exhibitions last season and is a four-point favorite tonight.

Coach Brown feels the 6-foot-1, 195-pound Watkins can do the same things Jim Brown does. "He can run inside as well as outside and also looks as though he can catch the football," Brown said of Watkins.

Pitching—Milt Pappas, Orioles, blanked the A's on six hits and walked just one in 8-0 victory.

Umpire Dascoli Fired By NL President Giles

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Controversial umpire Frank Dascoli was fired Thursday by National League President Warren Giles in an action unprecedented in modern-day major league baseball.

A spokesman for the National League said he could recall no instance of an outright dismissal of an umpire during the season play.

Giles said Dascoli's dismissal came about because recent remarks attributed to the umpire "makes his continued employment incompatible with the best interest of our umpiring staff, our office and the league."

Back in 1952 umpire Douglas (Scotty) Robb quit after it was reported he was fined more than then St. Louis Cardinal manager Eddie Stanky and Solly Hemus, then a Cardinal player, after a ruckus over a called third strike on Hemus. Robb later joined the American League.

Hemus also has figured in Dascoli's troubles.

Giles made it plain there was no question of Dascoli's integrity or impartiality on the field.

Dascoli was registered at a Cincinnati hotel Thursday night but declined to give his room number and he could not be located in the usual baseball hangouts in the downtown area.

Dascoli, a resident of Danielson, Conn., joined the National League umpiring staff in 1948. He has been a subject of controversy among players, managers, fans and league officials many times during his tenure.

Several weeks ago he and Hemus, since ousted manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, got into a dispute before a television audience. Hemus called Dascoli "arrogant." Dascoli called Hemus "a bushy." Both were reprimanded.

Last week, columnist Murray Olderman of the Newspaper Enterprise Association wrote a story quoting Dascoli as saying "games have gotten completely out of hand because he (Giles) refuses to back us up."

Olderman quoted Dascoli as saying he would quit at the end of this season.

Last weekend, Giles and Dascoli went into another of their many conferences here and a statement was issued in which Dascoli was quoted as saying he denied ever making such statements.

It was learned that Olderman later told Giles' office the name of the restaurant where the conversation took place and gave further details. In New York, Olderman said, "Dascoli made every statement which I attributed to him."

Reds To Face Giants In Series At Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds arrived here today to take on the third-place Giants, who are nine games out of the National League lead. The Reds trail pace-setting Los Angeles by one game.

So far this season, Cincinnati has taken eight of 11 clashes with the Giants and six of the victories were won in San Francisco. They have lost only one game there.

Jim O'Toole and Juan Marichal are expected to start tonight's game.

Southpaw O'Toole (17-8) has beaten the Giants twice without a setback, while San Francisco's Marichal (9-7), suffered two of his defeats at the hands of the Reds.

Tribe Faces Angels; Perry To Duel Duren

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jim Perry will be on the mound for the Cleveland Indians tonight when they try to stretch their winning streak to four games in the opener of a three-game series with the Los Angeles Angels.

Perry (8-10) was impressive in his last start, giving up only two runs on five hits in seven innings against the Detroit Tigers in Detroit Sunday. But Don Mossi was a little better and the Tigers won, 2-1.

Perry will be opposed tonight by Ryne Duren (4-10) or Ken McBride (9-8).

Duke Rodney Triumphs In Trot Classic

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Duke Rodney, a $7,000 bargain, and a 29-year old native New Yorker wise in the way of horses, stood at the head of the class today as the nation's top 3-year old trotters turned toward Du Quoin, Ill., and the classic Hambletonian on Aug. 30.

Duke Rodney, purchased as a yearling by Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Di Gennaro of Rochester, N.Y., won the first leg of the triple crown for 3-year old trotters with a record smashing 1 1-16 miles in the $100,330 Yonkers Futurity at Yonkers Raceway Thursday. The Hambletonian and the Kentucky Futurity at Lexington, Ky., in October, complete the triple crown.

Under the guidance of Ed Wheeler, who now calls Troy, Ohio, his home although born in Brooklyn, the Duke overcame a bad post position to take the lead after one-quarter mile, then hung on for a head decision over Charlotte S. Devan's Galeb of Hanover, Pa.

The time of 2:10 3-5, was the fastest 1 1-16 miles ever turned in by a 3-year old standardbred.

When the Kansas City Athletics signed pitcher Lew Krausse Jr. to a bonus they also renewed his father's contract as a scout through 1965.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Girls Needed In Technology Fields

Although America has a need for more doctors and engineers, fewer students have been entering our medical and engineering schools. Is it because these fields require long and hard preparation? Why do far fewer girls than boys elect a mathematics and science in high school?

Certainly there are many who are smart enough to do so. There's a growing demand for teachers in mathematics and the various "exact" sciences. Why should not more bright girls be attracted to medicine and engineering and various other types of technology? The physician of the President of the United States now being a woman, more girls may think of medicine as a career.

WITH THE GROWING need of all sorts of technologists, why should not more of our girls be headed toward technology? Not only are there abundant openings in this direction but the economy and defense of our nation should inspire more bright girls to pursue such education. Is there any evidence that women could not succeed as well as men in this direction? Pretty generally, no doubt, the wide avoidance of mathematics and science by girls is a matter of tradition. It's always been so, even with the slight increase of bright girls choosing these subjects in high school and college.

Like the style of clothing, could not pursuit of mathematics, science and technology be made fashionable among girls and women? HOW MUCH HAVE parents been responsible? How much have high school principals and college teachers and counselors? Why have not writers for popular journals, especially those read chiefly by women, more often pointed out the opportunities for girls and women in mathematics, science and various types of technology? Teachers should be watching in the junior high school for girls who show aptitude in mathematics and science and urge them to elect heavily in these directions right through high school and try to inspire them to emphasize these subjects in college. Parents should discuss these matters at home with their bright daughters.

Why should such not be subjects for discussion at the local PTA and service and community clubs?

Two Of Nation's Top Snack-Food Firms To Merge

ATLANTA (AP)—Two of the nation's major snack-food manufacturers, the Frito Co. of Dallas, Tex., and H. S. Lay & Co. of Atlanta, have agreed on a long-rumored merger.

Presidents John D. Williamson and Herman W. Lay said in a joint statement Thursday that the plans call for an exchange of 1.65 Frito shares for each share of Lay's stock.

Brokers reported that the over-the-counter bid price on Lay's stock today jumped to 70 from $63 Thursday, while Frito stock rose from $40 to $44.

The merger proposal will be presented to the board of directors of each firm for formal approval, and then to the stockholders for action.

Under the plan the Lay's operation, which covers primarily the Southeast, will continue to be maintained in suburban Chamblee Ga.

The new firm would be known as Frito-Lay, Inc., with Williamson as board chairman and chief executive officer, and Lay as president.

The present combined sales of the two firms exceed $135 million annually. Lay has been closely associated with the Frito organization since 1945.

In addition to snack food, the Texas firm markets canned goods.

River Yields Bodies

Of Mother, Two Sons

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va. (AP)—The bodies of a mother and her two small sons who drowned when a 14-foot outboard motorboat capsized were recovered Thursday from the Ohio River at nearby Gallipolis, Ohio.

The Mason County Sheriff's Office said that the bodies of Mrs. Monica Staats, 34; Michael Wayne Staats, 4, and Ralph L. Staats Jr., 6, were found within a period of a few hours.

The three drowned late Tuesday while on a pleasure ride with their father, Ralph L. Staats, 41, of Gallipolis Ferry. The father managed to swim to safety after fruitless efforts to rescue the others in the swift, somewhat high river.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What can I do about a drawer knob that keeps unscrewing and working loose?

A. Try cutting a disk from sandpaper and gluing this to the knob in such a way that the abrasive surface of the sandpaper contacts the drawer front. This will serve as a "lock washer" to keep the knob tightly screwed in place.

Q. What is an easy way to paint screens?

A. Cover a small block of wood with an old piece of carpeting, tacking the carpeting securely to the wood. Dip this into your paint and rub it over the screen.

Q. How can I produce a higher gloss on my shoes?

A. After polishing the shoes as usual, put a drop or two of plain water on the caps and finish-polish with your buffing cloth.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: School will be starting in a few weeks. I would like to get this settled in advance.

Our 16-year-old daughter flunked gym last year because she refused to take showers. She explained that the shower curtains don't cover the stalls and sometimes it is embarrassing.

I've told her that she is right and as far as I'm concerned she doesn't have to take showers.

The school authorities say no showers, no credit. Are we living under a dictatorship or what? I think our schools should encourage modesty among young girls.

Please print your answer. I expect to fight it out with the school in September. — MICHIGAN MOTHER.

Dear Ann: I'd like to say something to the wife who complained about her husband's cousin — the construction worker. I'm a construction worker, too, and I know the story from the other side.

All my relatives would love to have a garage added to their home, or a cement wall, or a new sidewalk, or a patio, or a sun room, but they just can't afford it.

When they finally decide to "go ahead" they ask me to do the job because I'm a construction worker and can get the materials for next to nothing — they think.

In the middle of the job they change the plans to include more materials and labor but the price is supposed to stay the same. They offer to help with the work and say they will hire some guys but the guys never show up.

As for them — after two Saturdays of helping they decide that they can't spend any more time on the project because they have to go out and make time and a half. — BEEN THERE.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Jaycees Plan Scholarship Fund For City

Plans for organizing a scholarship program to aid worthy students in obtaining a higher education have been announced by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The program was adopted by the Board of Directors.

The proposal calls for obtaining a $1 donation from each resident of the city. A special fund will be set up and administered by the Jaycees. It will be called the Citizens Scholarship Foundation.

William Webber, president, presided at the meeting Monday at the Chamber offices. Jack Hales, secretary, reported on a recent district meeting and said East Liverpool has been selected to host the April District 5 meeting.

Frank Dawson reported on the Junior Olympics program. The finals in the track events will be held Saturday at Patterson Field. The board voted to send the first place winners to a state meet at Hiram College Aug. 19.

Frank Potts, chairman, reported on the semi-professional football game to be sponsored by the Jaycees Sept. 2 at Patterson Field. Dick Cherry was a guest.

It was reported 25 couples attended the family picnic in July.

Dear Mother: Your daughter should adhere to the rules and take showers after gym class. What you call modesty is an unhealthy feeling about herself which has implications of greater importance than whether or not she flunks gym.

Please, for her sake, reverse your stand and urge her to do as the other girls do.

Same Old Tune

Dear Ann: This problem is one I always thought happened to someone else. For the last 10 months I've been seeing my boss secretly. He is married and has a family.

It started with a little night work, an innocent drink, a ride home and you know the rest.

Last week he called me in for dictation and said coldly, "We've got to stop seeing each other. My wife knows and she's a sick woman. I can't take a chance on what she might do to herself."

I can't get up the courage to leave this job, although I suppose it's the sensible thing to do. I feel that one day and he will be free to marry me and if I just stick around my chances will be better.

I love him very much and am willing to wait as long as necessary. Can you help?—PATIENT PAMELA.

As Red Crisis Deepens

U.S. And Allied Forces In Maneuvers Over Globe

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Military forces of the United States and her allies are in training maneuvers in far flung quarters of the world while diplomats talk and the Communist crisis deepens.

But Washington officials say it is coincidence that the troubled time and training happen to come together, that big-scale military training must be and is planned long in advance.

In West Germany, three battle groups of the U.S. Army and tactical planes of the U.S. Air Force have just started a 10-day operation.

Up to 30,000 Army troops and a swarm of planes are in the midst of a two-week operation, called Swift Strike, to train and test out airborne and other techniques.

In South Korea—like West Germany, located on the perimeter of the Communist empire—2,000 troops of the 7th Infantry Division have teamed up with Republic of Korea units in "Operation Sharp Edge." A U.S. Navy amphibious force, including both landing craft and destroyers, is in the operation.

Heading down the west coast of South America is a Navy force of four destroyers, patrol planes and a submarine, beginning "Exercise Unitas II." Prime purpose of this exercise is to help train navies of eight South American countries in antisubmarine warfare. From time to time, some of the smaller nations in that area make searches for suspected Communist submarines. Exercise Unitas II will continue until early this winter.

A North Atlantic Treaty Organization training operation, Trade-wind Five, is under way in the western North Atlantic. This exercise, however, will be essentially a paper maneuver, to test out command functions. No big movement of ships is involved. Earlier this summer, U.S., Canadian and other ships held exercises in the same area.

Insurance Figure Dies

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — William B. Calhoun, 80, former president of the National Association of Insurance Agencies and the Calhoun Insurance Co. of Milwaukee, died Thursday.

Satterfield Heads U.S. Bar Association

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—John C. Satterfield, 57, a lawyer from Yazoo City, Miss., formally takes over today as president of the American Bar Association.

He has served for a year as president-elect of the association, which has 102,000 members.

The ABA ends its 84th annual convention today, with retiring president Whitney North Seymour of New York handing the gavel to Satterfield.

Midland NAACP Will Give Picnic

The Midland branch of the NAACP will hold its second annual picnic Saturday beginning at 11 a. m. at Crucible Park, Will T. Leavell, president, announced.

Trophies will be presented, one each, to the winner of the men and women's softball games, by John Perkin Jr., co-chairman for the picnic with Bryant Perkins.

A men's team is expected from Akron and girls' teams from Clairton, Aliquippa and Wellsville. Leavell said. There will also be games, a track meet and dancing to records. The event will end at midnight.

The committee includes Mrs. Martha Gray, food concessions, and Mrs. Pearl Smith, Mrs. Ruby Golding and Harry Lacey.

Ex-Ohioan To Face Term In Murder Case

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Richard Dirlam, 21, formerly of Fremont, Ohio, will be sentenced Tuesday on his conviction of being an accessory after the fact in a murder. He could get as much as seven years in prison.

A new trial motion also will be disposed of then.

A jury Thursday deliberated only 20 minutes before finding the ex-convict guilty of concealing the pistol that Ernest J. Thomas, 34, used to kill Walter Stepniak, 49, a tavern operator in August 1960.

Thomas, a fellow construction worker of Dirlam's, was convicted of first-degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Chester Driver Fined For Sticker Violation

David Seevers, 190 Montana Ave., Chester, was fined $10 and costs Thursday night by acting Chester mayor Roy Cashdollar for operating a vehicle without an inspection sticker. He was cited Tuesday on 1st St.

AS PERSONALLY YOURS AS YOUR FINGERPRINT!

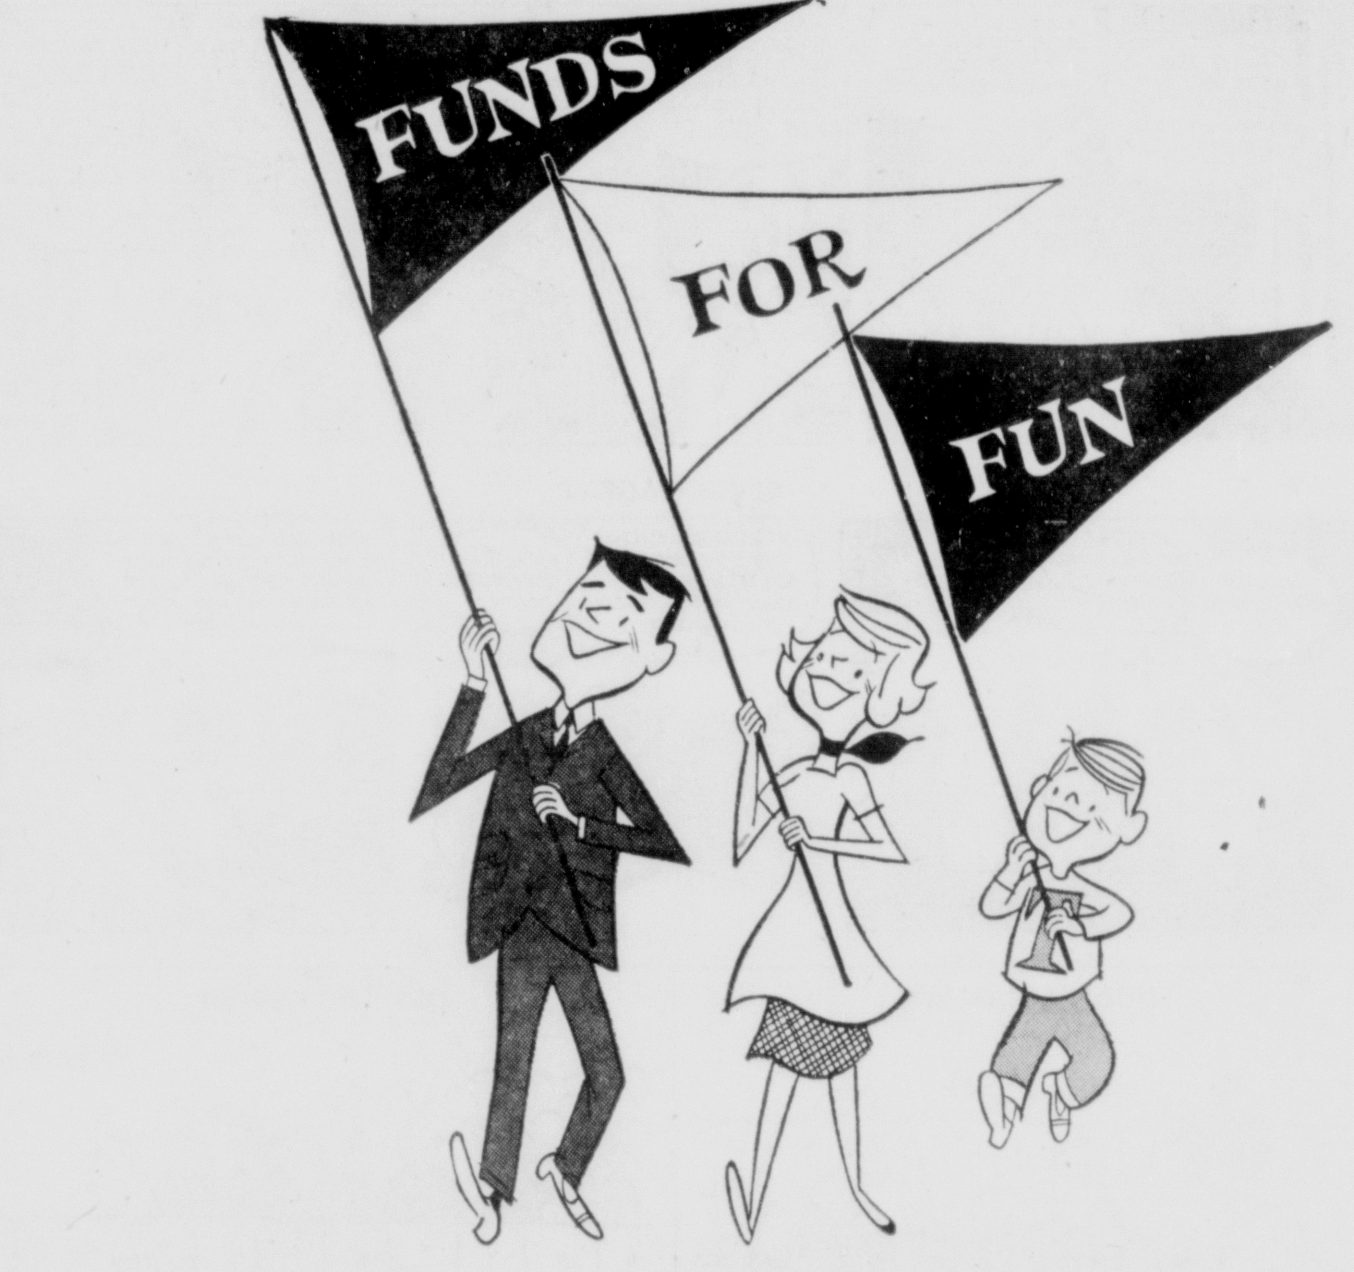

The nature, strength and dosage of prescribed drugs are so closely related by your doctor to your individual condition and needs that the medicine is as personally yours as your fingerprints. It can be harmful—even dangerous—to give your leftover medicine to another person. The safest precaution is to dispose of unused medicine when the need for taking it is ended.
